

Mr Nicholas Frank

Rushworth Chronicle

29 April, 1887

We regret to have to report that another old identity of Whroo has passed away, Mr Frank having expired at his residence on the 21st inst.

The remains were followed to their last resting place, the local cemetery, by a large number of people on Saturday.

The Rev. A. M. Taylor delivered a feeling address at the grave.

Rushworth Chronicle

5 May, 1887

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving remembrance of my dear husband, NICHOLAS FRANK, who departed this life on 21st April, 1887, at Whroo.

'Tis hard to see the empty chair,
And miss the face we loved so well;
Our loss seems very hard to bear:
Yes, harder than our tongues can tell.

How hard we thought it was to part
From one we loved so dear;
We know he suffered agony
For many and many a year.

He always bore it patiently:
He never did complain;
But though he's gone from those he loved,
We know he's free from pain.

Inserted by his loving wife and children.

The plaque at Whroo cemetery identifies Mr Frank's age as 57.
